

Now's the Time to Migrate to IP Telephony.

IP telephony provides a number of compelling benefits when strategically conceived and carefully planned. Whether your company needs a strategic plan to go IP or you're ready for practical advice on hardware, applications and qualified vendors, N'compass can make your migration to IP telephony a reality.

N'compass has the expertise and experience to create a communications solution that's focused on your company's business goals. We provide consulting services for the planning, design, acquisition and implementation of IP telephony. We design cost-effective solutions and encourage a competitive procurement environment through strategic sourcing, resulting in cost savings and reduction in cost of ownership for our clients. We can perform readiness assessments and feasibility studies, develop a business case, or create long-term strategic plans to get your company to an IP platform. We understand the benefits of IP telephony and can help you sell your strategy throughout your organization because we know how to speak to all organizational levels—from engineers to executives. We're constantly immersed in emerging technologies and understand the complexities of the current technology landscape and know how to get the job done so you can stay focused on your business.

Our IP telephony team will approach your IP migration project with independence, objectivity and an arsenal of experience to help you develop a strategic direction and plan to convert or expand your IP telephony environment. We understand the requirements your company needs to consider when migrating to IP; from the business demands to the hardware and application changes. We don't make or sell equipment; this keeps us free to recommend solutions independent of brand and manufacturer. And because our people have deep experience in voice, video and data networking, we approach every project without a preconceived bias toward a particular technology.

Benefits

- We navigate IP projects from design through implementation; delivering a seamless transition to an IP environment
- We understand the technology, manufacturers, channel partners and trends that really matter
- We provide end-to-end leadership and consultation with proven methodologies that drive toward your business goals
- We understand how business is impacted by IP migration and navigate the requirements for each, ensuring a smooth transition
- Our vast experience—from Fortune 500s to one-site offices—gives you the peace of mind that you've hired the best, customer-focused, results-oriented partner
- We are an integral part of your team, providing your staff with our expert knowledge and enhancing their skills and performance
- Our procurement process through strategic sourcing results in cost savings and reduction in cost of ownership
- Our extensive experience includes industry focused markets like retail, health care, manufacturing, medical device manufacturing, energy, financial, credit union, and professional services companies

Services

- IP Readiness Assessment
- Feasibility Study and Business Case Development
- Strategic Planning and Financial Analysis
- Design
- Acquisition
- Implementation

Technologies

- IP Telephony
- Messaging
- Contact Center
- Unified Communications
- Wireless/mobility 802.11x
- LAN/WAN technologies
- Video conferencing
- Land mobile radio